Description

"The commitment, dedication and continued to believe in what you want to achieve, has brought me, my family and the company to achieve great things" "The commitment, dedication and continued to believe in what you want to Achieve, he brought` me, my family and the company to Achieve great things "The Maltese company that for six generations with passion and dedication to work in the cultivation of the vine, is located in that part of western Sicily, where the horizon are seen rolling hills and expanses of plains coming in a warm sea. The sun, the sea, the earth and the wind remain etched in the minds of everyone who comes to visit this Earth. A place with thousands of years of history behind it, expressed his deep Mediterranean beauty. Its origins date back to around 1800, when a small family owned a few acres, led by grandmother Cardeddra (nickname given to the Maltese family which means "wild grass" that the lady loved to clean between the rows), which by the way of duty and sacrifice, overcoming the difficulties of the time and prejudice being a woman, was able to carry on the small business that will be sold over the years to his 14 children. Gianfranco, the current conductor, gives life to his intentions at the end of 2004, and now with the continuation of generations, the farm Maltese is a solid farm that keeps a family, a 'prudent qualitative idea that seeks to surrender to every production. In respect to traditional Sicilian peasant and his previous generations, choose to use cultivation techniques which aim to protect the environment, thus beginning a journey that takes him today to be able to boast its own production under the brand name of Organic Agriculture.
